David Boies and Ted Olson: “The Case for Marriage Equality”

AIR DATE: July 18, 2014

David Boies, Chairman, Boies, Schiller, and Flexner LLP; Co-Author, Redeeming the Dream: The Case for Marriage Equality Theodore B. Olson, Partner, Gibson, Dunn, and Crutcher, Co-Author, Redeeming the Dream: The Case for Marriage Equality In conversation with California Lt. Governor Gavin Newsom Introduction by Actor/Activist George Takei

Come hear the riveting inside story of the Supreme Court's landmark rulings on The Defense of Marriage Act and Proposition 8. On June 26, 2013, the U.S. Supreme Court issued a pair of landmark decisions, reinstating the freedom to marry for same-sex couples in California. Boies and Olson – who argued against each other all the way to the Supreme Court in Bush v. Gore – joined forces to forge the unique legal argument that would carry the day. Now they discuss the story of the five-year struggle to win the right for gay couples to marry, from Proposition 8's adoption in 2008 to its defeat before the highest court in the land in Hollingsworth v. Perry in 2013. Kris Perry and Sandy Stier, plaintiffs represented by Mr. Boies and Mr. Olson in the Supreme Court case, will be in attendance

“SF's Power Women of Eventbrite, ModCloth & One Kings Lane”

AIR DATE: July 25, 2014

2014 Julia Hartz, Co-Founder and President, Eventbrite Susan Gregg Koger, Co-Founder and Chief Creative Officer, ModCloth Alison Pincus, Co-Founder, One Kings Lane; Founder, Hunters AlleyOn Jory Des Jardins, Co-Founder and President of Strategic Alliances, BlogHer – Moderator

ModCloth, One Kings Lane and Eventbrite are three ventures that have grown from revolutionary beginnings and transformed the world of commerce. Join us as we host three of San Francisco's most innovative female entrepreneurs for a conversation on gutsily growing your business and being a woman power player.

Julia Hartz and her ever-evolving team of “Britelings” have grown Eventbrite into a company with award-winning culture, focused on bringing the world together through live experiences. Susan Gregg Koger, one of Forbes' “30 Under 30,” is reinventing online shopping with a one-of-a-kind social community. Digital media fiend Alison Pincus boldly launched One Kings Lane in the middle of the 2009 recession, only to have it become one of the fastest growing online businesses, worth almost $1 billion.

Dr. Ezekiel Emanuel: “Reinventing American Health Care”

AIR DATE: August 1, 2014

Ezekiel Emanuel, M.D., Ph.D., Former Chief Health Policy Advisor to President Obama; Vice Provost for Global Initiatives and Chair of the Department of Medical Ethics and Health Policy, University of Pennsylvania; Author, Reinventing American Health Care and Brothers Emanuel: A Memoir of an American Family Alice Huan-mei Chen, M.D., M.P.H., Chief Integration Officer, Director of the Center for Innovation in Access and Quality, and Director of the eReferral Program, San Francisco General Hospital; Associate Professor of Medicine, University of California, San Francisco — Moderator

Emanuel has written what is being called a brilliant diagnostic explanation of why health care in America has become such a divisive social issue, how money and medicine have their own – quite distinct – American story, and why reform has bedeviled both liberal and conservative presidents for more than 100 years. He will forecast six mega trends in health that will determine the market for health care in 2020 and beyond.

GMOs: “Necessary in a Hot and Crowded World?”

AIR DATE: August 8, 2014

Robert Fraley, Chief Technology Officer, Monsanto Andrew Kimbrell, Founder and Executive Director, Center for Food Safety Nathanael Johnson, Food Writer, Grist; Author, All Natural: A Skeptic's Quest to Discover If the Natural Approach to Diet, Childbirth, Healing, and the Environment Really Keeps Us Healthier and Happier Jessica Lundberg, Seed Nursery Manager, Lundberg Family Farms

With global population climbing toward 10 billion, food security is a growing concern. Extreme droughts and floods have slammed agricultural exports from the United States, Australia and Russia in recent years. Future severe weather is expected to put upward pressure on crop prices. That prospect raises thorny questions. Is there a role for seeds that are genetically modified to be drought resistant? Can 10 billion people be fed without GMO crops? Can organics feed a growing and hungry world? Consumer support of full labeling of GMO products is getting the attention of food producers and retailers. Whole Foods recently said all GMO foods on its shelves must be labeled by 2018. General Mills announced that Cheerios would not include GMOs. Labeling laws are also being put before voters around the country. Join us for a discussion about the prospect and perils of tinkering with the genetics of our food supply as we brace for more climate disruption.

Climate One Connect: Audience members are invited to engage in breakout group conversations led by speakers for 20 minutes following the program. We hope you'll take part in this unique opportunity to delve deeper into feeding a hot and crowded planet. This Climate One Connect will also include the opportunity to speak with Brent Tarnow, Senior Stakeholder Engagement Manager for Future 500, a group that seeks common ground between companies and their adversaries.

“Affordable Care Act and the LGBT Community”

AIR DATE: August 15, 2014

2014 Elizabeth Sekera, RN, Clinic Director, Lyon-Martin Health Maddie Deutsch, MD, Clinical Lead, Center of Excellence for Transgender Health, UCSF Anand Kalra, Program Manager, Transgender Law Center Barry Zevin, MD, Clinical Lead, Transgender Health Services, San Francisco Department of Public Health – Moderator

Among those now able to enroll in the expansion of Medicaid under the Affordable Care Act, members of the LGBT community, particularly those who are transgender, are sure to see a change in both coverage and care. In addition to making it illegal for people to be denied insurance based on sexual orientation or gender identity, the Affordable Care Act also ensures that pre-existing health conditions – such as HIV/AIDS – can't prevent people from getting covered. What kinds of changes will the ACA bring to LGBT communities? How will that impact transgender patients? Join a discussion on health reform effects on the LGBT population – with a particular focus on the transgender community.

“Ralph Nader”

AIR DATE: August 22, 2014

Ralph Nader, Political Activist; Author, Unstoppable: The Emerging Left-Right Alliance to Dismantle the Corporate State; Twitter @RalphNader Debra J. Saunders, Columnist, San Francisco Chronicle; “Token Conservative” Blogger, SFGate.com; Twitter @debrajsaunders — Moderator

Ralph Nader has fought for decades on behalf of American citizens against what he sees as the pervasive influence of corporations on our society. Large majorities tell pollsters that big corporations have too much political power, and Nader believes that the ever-tightening influence of big business on the mainstream media, elections and our government have caused many Americans to believe they have no political voice.

Nader draws on a half century of his own experience working with the grassroots and Congress and tells of many surprising victories that have united progressive and conservative forces. Far from espousing compromises that meet halfway, Nader argues that citizens of different political labels must join in the struggle against the corporate state, because if left unchecked, that corporate state will ruin the republic, shred the Constitution, and stampede over the rights of the American people.

“Michael Waldman”

AIR DATE: August 29, 2014

Michael Waldman, President, Brennan Center for Justice at NYU School of Law; Author, The Second Amendment: A Biography

Mark Follman, Senior Editor, Mother Jones – Moderator

The right to bear arms might be the most controversial, volatile, misunderstood provision of the Bill of Rights. Waldman will recount the raucous public debate that has surrounded the amendment from its inception to the present. The amendment was written to calm public fear that the new national government would crush the state militias. As the country spread to the Western frontier, violence spread too, but through it all, gun control was abundant. The present debate picked up in the 1970s – part of a backlash to the liberal 1960s and a resurgence of libertarianism. In 2008, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled for the first time that the Constitution protects an individual right to gun ownership. Waldman argues that our view of the amendment is set, at each stage, not by a pristine constitutional text, but by the push and pull, the rough and tumble of political advocacy and public agitation.

“Steve Forbes”

AIR DATE: September 5, 2014

Steve Forbes, Chairman and Editor in Chief, Forbes Media; Publisher, Forbes Magazine

Forbes Media publishes Forbes magazine, with a circulation of nearly 1 million readers domestically and 5 million worldwide. Steve Forbes was a Republican candidate for president in the 1996 and 2000 primaries. Here's a chance to hear him identify the current threats to the dollar and discuss how we can all increase our financial stability. As detailed in his new book Money: How the Destruction of the Dollar Threatens the Global Economy and What We Can Do About It, Forbes argues that since world governments took their currencies off the gold standard, money has gotten weaker and our wealth has been eroded. He predicts that this global devaluation of currencies could lead to a fiscal catastrophe as bad as the Great Depression or worse unless we do something about it now.

“John Dean”

AIR DATE: September 12, 2014

John Dean, Author, The Nixon Defense: What He Knew and When He Knew It Roy Eisenhardt, Lecturer, UC Berkeley Law — Moderator

This month marks 40 years since the resignation of President Richard Nixon. Dean, one of the last major surviving figures of Watergate, connects the dots between what we've come to believe about Watergate and what actually happened. Watergate forever changed American politics, and in light of the revelations about the NSA's widespread surveillance program, the scandal has taken on new significance.

Dean draws on his own transcripts of almost a thousand conversations, a wealth of Nixon's secretly recorded information, and documents in the National Archives and Nixon Library to provide the definitive answer to the question: What did President Nixon know and when did he know it?

“Sal Khan”

AIR DATE: September 19, 2014

Sal Khan, Founder, Khan Academy; Author, The One World Schoolhouse: Education Reimagined

In conversation with Kishore Hari, Director, Bay Area Science Festival

"I teach the way that I wish I was taught."

– Sal Khan

When Sal Khan started helping his teenage cousin with algebra from across the country, he didn't set out to change the world. Starting only with an office in his Bay Area apartment, he now has over 4,000 video lessons in his online library, ranging from chemistry to history to finance. Khan is truly an educational pioneer, reaching millions of students, teachers and individuals. Khan Academy's mission to give a free, world-class education to anyone, anywhere has breached the educational divide between poor and privileged and pioneered a transformation at the intersection of learning and technology. INFORUM will award this educational innovator with our 21st Century Visionary Award. Don't miss your chance to learn from one of the best teachers you'll ever have, in conversation with a special guest, live at the Castro Theatre

Nina Teicholz: The Big Fat Surprise

AIR DATE: September 26, 2014

2014 Nina Teicholz, Author, The Big Fat Surprise: Why Butter, Meat and Cheese Belong in a Healthy Diet

Ronald M. Krauss, M.D., Senior Scientist and Director, Atherosclerosis Research, Children's Hospital Oakland Research Institute; Adjunct Professor, Department of Medicine, UCSF and Department of Nutritional Sciences, U.C. Berkeley - Moderator

Investigative journalist Nina Teicholz spent nine years deeply researching the effect that fats have on our bodies. She found the unthinkable: everything we thought we knew about dietary fats is wrong. For decades, we have been told that the best possible diet involves cutting back on fat, especially saturated fat, and that if we are not getting healthier or thinner it must be because we are not trying hard enough. What if those exact foods we've been denying ourselves — the creamy cheeses, the sizzling steaks — are themselves the key to reversing the epidemics of obesity, diabetes, and heart disease? Teicholz will discuss how the misinformation about saturated fats took hold in the scientific community as well as the public imagination, and how recent findings dispute those beliefs. Come ask your questions about this startling new report.

Nina Teicholz was a regular contributor to Gourmet magazine and has written on food for New York Magazine and Time Out New York. She has also contributed, on a variety of topics, to The New Yorker, The Economist, The Washington Post, The New York Times and Salon, among other publications. She was an on-air reporter for NPR for five years and was the associate director for the Center for Globalization and Sustainable Development at Columbia University, a think tank directed by the economist Jeff Sachs.
